Maths

We have been looking at percentages in class. This toy shop is having a 20% off sale. You need to figure out the discount of each item and subtract this from the original total to find out the new price. You must show all you workings out in your homework book. Remember to keep your work 5 star quality.

!Toy Shop Price List

English

Comparing Nations:

You must compare Australia, Brazil and another country that participates in the Olympics of your choice.

For each country you are required to compare their land boundaries / bordering oceans, area, population, density (people per km²), capital city, environmental characteristics, language, currency and major tourist attractions. Finally draw each countries flag and find out the history behind it (why does it look the way it does).